ADAM HURLED TO GROUND AT FAIR

Young Balloonist at Lakeville Either Misjudged Distance
or Lost Hold by Accident—
Is Paralyzed.

Frank Atkins, professional balloonist, lies at the St. Joseph hospital, suffering from a broken shoulder, two broken ribs and other serious injuries as the result of a plunge from a parachute at the Lakeville fair early Friday morning. In addition to the broken bones in his upper body Atkins is paralyzed in both legs and his hips.

Several hundred people witnessed the headlong flight of young Atkins when he lost his hold on the bars of his parachute. He had ascended a height of over a thousand feet when he cut loose from the balloon. He made a pretty descent and all seemed safe until within about fifty feet from the ground. Then he either misjudged the distance or lost his hold by accident and hurtled to the ground. He covered the fifty feet of space between his parachute and the ground in the flash of an eye and struck the ground with terrific force. A great hole was plowed in the earth where he fell.

The crowd gasped for a moment; no one moved to the man's rescue. Then his partner rushed out, shook him a few times and then loudly announced, "I guess he is dead."

A physician was hurriedly summoned and the man examined. His heart was found still beating and in hopes that his life might be saved he was rushed to South Bend. The hospital authorities say the man has a chance for recovery. It is thought the shock of the fall may have caused some serious internal injuries. An X-ray examination is being made to determine the full extent of his injuries.

Atkins is only 25 years of age. He was employed by the fair association to make a balloon ascension in connection with the regular program of the fair. His home is at Vincennes.

WOMAN STRANGLED TO DEATH ON DROP OF WATER

It was learned Friday night that the direct cause of the death of Mrs. Charlotte Krienke, 1225 W. Jefferson boulevard, Thursday night, was by strangulation on a drop of water. It was first reported that Mrs. Krienke had died from the effects of blood poisoning.

According to report Friday night, Mrs. Krienke about a week ago attempted to chop some wood. During the act a splinter was pushed into her hand. In a few days blood poisoning developed, which a few days ago caused lockjaw.

Thursday night a spoon was inserted between the woman's teeth to pry her mouth open. In the order to give her some water, she was unable to swallow and the first drop strangled her to death.

Mrs. Krienke was 61 years old.

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 19.—Frank Runyon, 48, a second exalted ruler of the Bluffton lodge of Elks, and an employee of a garage in that city, was instantly killed at Three Mile Corner, near Bryant, Jay county at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. His body was discovered by a Geneva hotel keeper. His automobile turned turtle in a sharp curve while he was headed for Portland and went into an orchard by the roadside. His back was broken and his head crushed.

SCHMIDT ASKS FOR QUICK DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Sons, including the Kellerman girl at Louisville.

"I would be only too pleased if I could convince the authorities that I killed the little child in Louisville," said Schmidt.

"It might help the poor fellow who is in prison. But you see, nobody would believe me."

"When one confesses freely to murders one is less likely to be sentenced to death," Schmidt said. "I am a guilty man being guilty of murders one is accused. I did not kill the child in Louisville. I did not kill other persons. To say I did so would be patently false and only laughable."

"What difference does it make to me if I am accused of destroying one or a dozen persons?"

Here Schmidt threw up both hands despairingly and ran back in his cell.

Andouin, Anne Dancery, the noted French beauty, who recently arrived in New York with her husband to fulfill a theatrical engagement, declared that the reason she had insisted on marrying before sailing for America was because she feared that her handsome husband might have been attracted by the charms of some one of the thousands of American beauties she has read about and that her own little romance would meet a tragic end.

ARRANGE FOR THAW HEARING NEXT WEEK

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 19.—Harry K. Thaw's official custodian, Sheriff Drew, was in consultation Friday with New Hampshire officials regarding the arrangements for Thaw's hearing before Gov. Samuel D. Felker next Thursday on the question of his extradition to New York state. The possibility of a disturbance of the proceedings was discussed, although it was said there is no apparent likelihood of any untoward happening on that occasion.

If Gov. Felker approves, it is probable that the hearing will be held in the state senate chamber and that the persons allowed to be present will be newspapermen and members of the bar. The expediency of excluding all who have no errand to the state capital than to satisfy their curiosity, is also being considered.

Attorneys declined to discuss a report that Thaw expressed a personal wish that the proceedings before the governor be handled for him exclusively by his New Hampshire counsel.

Much of Thaw's time is spent in preparing notes for his counsel. Letters and telegrams continue to pile up in the executive chamber awaiting the arrival of Gov. Felker on Monday.

Meanwhile word comes from the governor's home in Rochester, that he is having his troubles there with the "franks" in connection with the Thaw case and that after being routed out of bed on several nights by telephone calls, he has made arrangements to prevent his rest being thus again interrupted.

BOY AND GIRL TRY TO END OWN LIVES

High School Lad Angered Because Mother Objected to Him Going South—Girl's Motive Unknown.

ELKHART, Sept. 19.—Oris Fout, a seventeen year old high school student, made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon because his widowed mother and brother opposed his desire to leave home. A bullet from a .32 calibre revolver passed through the right eye destroying the sight.

Five hours after young Fout's unsuccessful attempt at self destruction, Miss Gertrude Cocklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Cocklin of No. 228 East Lexington avenue employed a similar means in trying to end her life but her aim was poor as the bullet passed just above the heart and the physicians declare did not affect the vital organs sufficiently to cause death.

Both would-be suicides are patients at the General hospital where it was stated late Friday night that both would recover.

The motive for the girl's attempt is believed to be her mother's objection to her coming to the business district during the evening.

Fout's attempt was made in front of the home of Frank Klaar, No. 327 Prairie street. The mother and brother worried at the boy's failure to return home from school at noon and knowing his oft expressed desire to go south, started out to intercept him. He was found leading his wheel on State street. He had drawn his savings, over $40, from a local bank and intended to leave on an afternoon train.

Both mother and brother tried to persuade him to return home and talk the matter over. Fout became obstinate. The mother's statement, "Well, if you must go, go," is believed to have caused Fout to lose control of himself for he ran to the middle of the street, whisked the revolver from his coat pocket and fired.

WILL ENFORCE AUTO LICENSE TAX LAW

That there is no further reason for showing leniency toward automobile drivers whose machines do not bear the Indiana license tax for 1913 is the declaration of Prosecutor Sawyer who said today he would expect the police and other peace officers to enforce the new state law against unlicensed machines.

Each of the rush for licenses and the number signs, the office of the secretary of state, which issues them, was not able to supply all applicants as early as the new law contemplated. However, Prosecutor Sawyer, who recently wrote a letter of inquiry to the secretary of state, today received a reply stating that for the past two weeks there has been no occasion for an automobile to be without the proper 1913 label.

The government's evident satisfaction with the Davis machine's operation augurs further orders of like nature.

WAITING ARRIVAL OF TESTING ENGINEER

Will Soon Open Valves at New East End Pumping Station—Big Contracts Completed This Season.

Everything is now in readiness at Mishawaka's new east end pumping station for opening of the valves which will flood the city water mains with pure fresh artesian well water. City officials Friday morning were anxiously awaiting the arrival of the expert testing engineer from the Platt Iron works branch office at Chicago, who will thoroughly inspect the pumping engines before turning on the water. As the equipment installed by the Platt Iron company has not been accepted as yet by the board of public works, City Water Superintendent E. F. Crabb, who has been supervising the construction of the plant will not attempt any testing before being accepted. After the pumping engine has been thoroughly tested and accepted by both the board of public works and the common council the city water mains will be flushed and cleaned before residents will be asked to use the water domestic purposes.

The new plant is fast nearing completion and will be entirely completed before heavy winter weather sets in. Active construction was not started until this spring in building the plant and installing the equipment, although the water mains were laid last summer and men who are in charge and city officials are well satisfied with the progress made by the various contractors on the job. There were several big contracts connected with work completed this summer. Among them being the most dangerous and difficult was the connecting of the six wells to a single main laid in a ditch over 25 feet in depth. This work was extremely dangerous to men working at the bottom of the ditch as the earth at this point is of loose sand and gravel of a shifting nature. Much time was spent on this contract as many thousands of feet of timber were used in safeguarding the men. Other big contracts were the installing of the boilers and heaters in the building of the plant proper, the construction of the big smoke stack and the completing of the installing of the pumping engine. Floors have yet to be placed in the building and the outside surroundings made attractive. A stairway is now under construction by Contractor Rosewarne near the well connections.
